

6. Permutation and substitution are two common methods to help generate cipher texts. What are the permutation and the substitution methods? Explain how frequency analysis can be used to crack long cipher texts. [4]